Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulled coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

statement of why the board took this action should be forthcoming. In fact, the public is entitled to know at once. Then the public will be in position to know whether the board has acted for the best. Until that is done there naturally will be a more or less impression that an injustice has been done in view of the proud history of the school system under the superintendency of Mr. Burdette. The board's statement may satisfactorily explain or it may not, but after it is made, the responsibility can then lie where it belongs.

Why Burdette's Removal?

For several days before the matter became public Monday afternoon, the Telegram had known that the board of education of the city had asked Frank L. Burdette to resign as superintendent of the city schools at the end of the present school year and that he had refused to do so, whereupon he was told by the board that he would not be retained next year. Mention of the board's action was delayed by the Telegram in the hope that the board would make public the action taken. In the meantime the matter became public.

Until the board gives its reasons for the removal of Superintendent Burdette, the Telegram will not be in position to comment on its action one way or the other. However, it is at a loss to understand why such action has been taken. That the school system of Clarksburg has grown to phenomenal proportions since Mr. Burdette became superintendent nineteen years ago is admitted by all and that he has had a great part in this miraculous growth none can successfully deny. The Telegram in this respect agrees with the Exponent when it reviews the city school history briefly as follows:

"One thing is plain, and every patron of Clarksburg schools must admit it, and that is the progress attained in the city schools during the last nineteen years is phenomenal."

"When Mr. Burdette came to Clarksburg and took charge as superintendent of schools there were eleven teachers teaching in one building—then called the Central school—now the Tower school. Today over one hundred teachers are employed. The Washington Irving high school building, with its various departments and courses of study, is considered as one of the best in the country. The new Linden avenue graded school, Carlisle, Pierpont, Alta Vista, Morgan, West End and other school buildings have all been constructed during the time that Mr. Burdette has been superintendent. There are many other things that speak for his work that cannot be enumerated and stated accurately at this time."

"Mr. Burdette is recognized by the leading educators of the country as one of the most efficient school men in the United States. A good disciplinarian, he has imbued discipline among the teachers and students that has resulted in such a high class of efficiency that Clarksburgers may point out with pride to their schools and say they are justly proud of them, and to those whose untiring and faithful efforts, combined with expert knowledge, have made them the wonderful institutions they are today."

The board must agree with the school people that the following are incontrovertible truths concerning the Clarksburg city schools and the policies and position of Prof. Burdette:

"First—They have the correct moral tone."

"Second—They are well organized and well controlled."

"Third—The teaching is up to the standard."

"Fourth—(a) The superintendent has been clear of any political bias in any relation to the schools."

"(b) He has been free from sectarian bias in any and all recommendations."

"(c) He has been fearless in doing what he thought right."

"(d) He has been both faithful and just in his administration."

"(e) He has managed to a remarkable degree to keep the schools free from sectarian and political influences."

"(f) He has strictly kept to himself private counsels with parents and pupils about correction for misconduct."

"(g) He has stood for a progressive school policy, even for more rapid progress than was thought possible to inaugurate up to this time."

"(h) He has openly opposed what he deemed bad educational policy."

"(i) He has shown no signs of personal resentment against those who differ from him."

"(j) He has uniformly eliminated self-gloryification and cheap advertisement of his work. He knows thoroughly the details of the system."

"(k) He has a correct notion of standards for both teachers and pupils."

"(l) He has most loyally supported his teachers and board members in their official relations. They are his friends."

In justice to the board, it seems to the Telegram that a clear and complete statement of why the board took this action should be forthcoming. In fact, the public is entitled to know at once. Then the public will be in position to know whether the board has acted for the best. Until that is done there naturally will be a more or less impression that an injustice has been done in view of the proud history of the school system under the superintendency of Mr. Burdette. The board's statement may satisfactorily explain or it may not, but after it is made, the responsibility can then lie where it belongs.

Just because your wife says you are the light of her life, don't go out too much.

"Good afternoon," said the great detective. "I have a chair—temporarily, of course."

"My husband's actions have been puzzling me," began the woman with the high-heeled gown. Every evening after supper he mysteriously disappears, and never returns until midnight. He never tells me where he has been, but I suspect the worst, for he always comes back with a smear of face powder on his right shoulder, and I've found long hairs on his coat. Different colored feminine hairs—pink, maroon, mauve, all colors."

"Hum," said the great detective thoughtfully. "Hum."

"I should say so," replied the woman in the high-heeled gown.

"What's the nearest dance hall to your house?" asked the great detective, and she answered, "The Palais de Hop."

"Springing to the telephone, the great detective called up the Palais de Hop. "Page M. Dooser, please," he requested. "Hello, is this Mr. Dooser. Is it? Thank you, that's all."

"Wonderful!" breathed the woman with the high-heeled gown. "I'll start in tomorrow and take dancing lessons myself."

"That's the best way to stop him," agreed the g. d. "Eleven dollars, please."
